

GENERAL POLICY FOR FINAL INSPECTIONS

City of Onalaska Inspection Department

March 17, 2005

In order to provide for more predictable occupancy permit issuance, the City of Onalaska is revising it's current policy.

Starting April 1, 2005 contractors wishing to schedule a final occupancy inspection will fill out a simple application and checklist detailing items necessary for occupancy. Upon receipt of an application for final inspection, the City Inspection Department will schedule a final inspection not less than three working days after a final inspection application has been received and date stamped by the City Inspection Department. Final inspection applications shall be signed by the applicable contractor and/or contractors. There may be more than one application given the amount of contractors involved.

The application includes a useful checklist for occupancy that will assist contractors in identifying all necessary work to be completed.

This policy and application will be included in all building permit application packets.
